HOW NOT TO MAKE A MUSICAL!

We asked Butch Hartman, the creator of The Fairly OddParents, and Steve Marmel, the show's head writer, to give us the scoop on how they created the musical special "School's Out!" For some reason, we got this comic in return.

THE END!

Story: Steve Marmel. Pencils: Butch Hartman. Inks: Jeff Albrecht. Coloring: Sno Cone Studios. Lettering: Comicraft. The Fairly OddParents created by Butch Hartman. Special thanks to Biscotti.

It's H.P. to Be Square

Actor Ben Stein plays H.P. and Sanderson, the magical but mundane Pixies in the Fairly OddParents "School's Out!" musical. We tuned in while he told us about music, magic, and being the Clear Eyes guy.

NICK MAG PRESENTS: What's your favorite musical?

BEN STEIN: When I was a child, my parents used to take me to all the Broadway musicals that would stop in Washington, D.C., where I grew up, on the way to New York. My favorite from my childhood is Guys and Dolls. But my favorite of all time is Evita.

Did you watch a lot of cartoons as a kid?

Yes. I just remember Goofy, Daffy Duck, and Pluto. The cartoon I used to watch when my son was a young, young kid, instead of a wicked, evil teenager, was The Ren & Stimpy Show. We used to watch that religiously.

You've had a busy career. What's been your favorite job?

Doing commercials is probably my favorite job—I just love it. It's really, really easy, and they run forever, and people see me. When I'm sitting in an airport, waiting for my plane, someone will come up to me and say, "Oh, you're Ben Stein! I saw you in the Clear Eyes commercial. I love you." I love that because it makes me feel like I'm not alone.

If you could have a magical power, what would you choose?

I would like to wave a wand and have world peace.

What is your favorite kind of music to listen to?

Bob Dylan is my absolute favorite. And then Frank Sinatra, the Beatles, the Rolling Stones, the Beach Boys. And I love Jimi Hendrix like crazy.

Can you sing?

I can sing Bob Dylan songs very, very well.

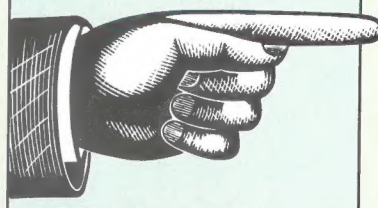

Do you sing in the shower?

I sing all day long. ☐

PIXIE PAIR: Ben voices both Sanderson (above) and H.P.

PULLOUT PRANK

Wouldn't it be great to spend the summer at Flappy Bob's Camp Learn-a-torium? No, we don't think so, either. So here's a prank you can play on your younger siblings (or your friends). Just tear out the brochure on the opposite page and fold it as shown in the illustration below. Then, pass it along to your unwitting victim, and tell them that Mom and Dad have very special plans for them this summer.

▼ Fold this page along the dotted line and carefully tear it out. ▼

...A SUMMER OF EDUCA-FUN!

Camp Learn-a-torium is a day care center and educational camp where kids can spend not just a day, not just a week, but all summer long doing what they really love: learning!

"Once you arrive at Camp Learn-a-torium, you'll never want to leave!" —Flappy Bob

COMFORTS OF HOME

At our fantastic facility, campers are treated with extra-special care. We provide no expense in taking care of the essentials.

Each child receives:

- A uniform (one size fits all)
- A safety helmet
- A mouth guard
- 14 homework assignments a day
- Complimentary meals (unless water ration is exceeded)

No need to pack a toothbrush—we have one for everyone to share!

WINNER TAKE...A LITTLE

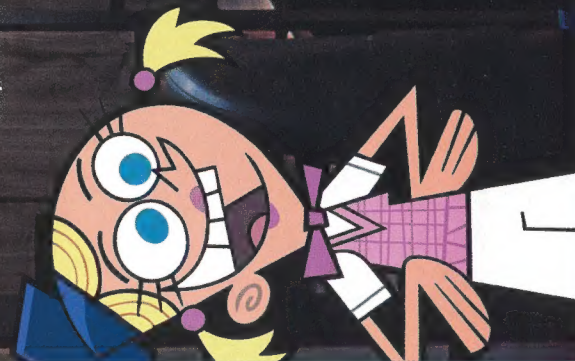

Good sportsmanship is key to becoming a well-rounded and productive lackey...ah...make that citizen. Children are required to participate in the following sporting events:

Basement Baseball We throw a ball into a dark, stinky basement. The first kid to find it gets to come out. The rest...well, that's why it's a competition!

Tag, You're It! Kids put tags on Learn-a-torium T-shirts. The kid who tags the most shirts—this is awesome—gets to keep one (tag, not a shirt—we're not made of money here).

"Who needs friends when you've memorized the entire dictionary—backward? Camp Learn-a-torium taught me to value the important things in life: education, knowledge, and homework!"

—Betty, a fan of learning

—Gary, a satisfied customer

GET SMART!

We make it a point to fill kids' tiny brains with as much knowledge as they can stand—then we fill 'em some more till it leaks out of their waxy ears. We've hired the finest teachers available at minimum wage to educate children in such important subjects as:

Science:

- Stapler and Paper Clip Repair (pictured)
- Mommy, Where Do Shoelaces Come From?

History:

- Meat Loaf Through the Ages
- Abe Lincoln's Favorite Socks

Math:

- Count Your Eyelashes, Divide by Two
- So Many Lice: Multiplication and You

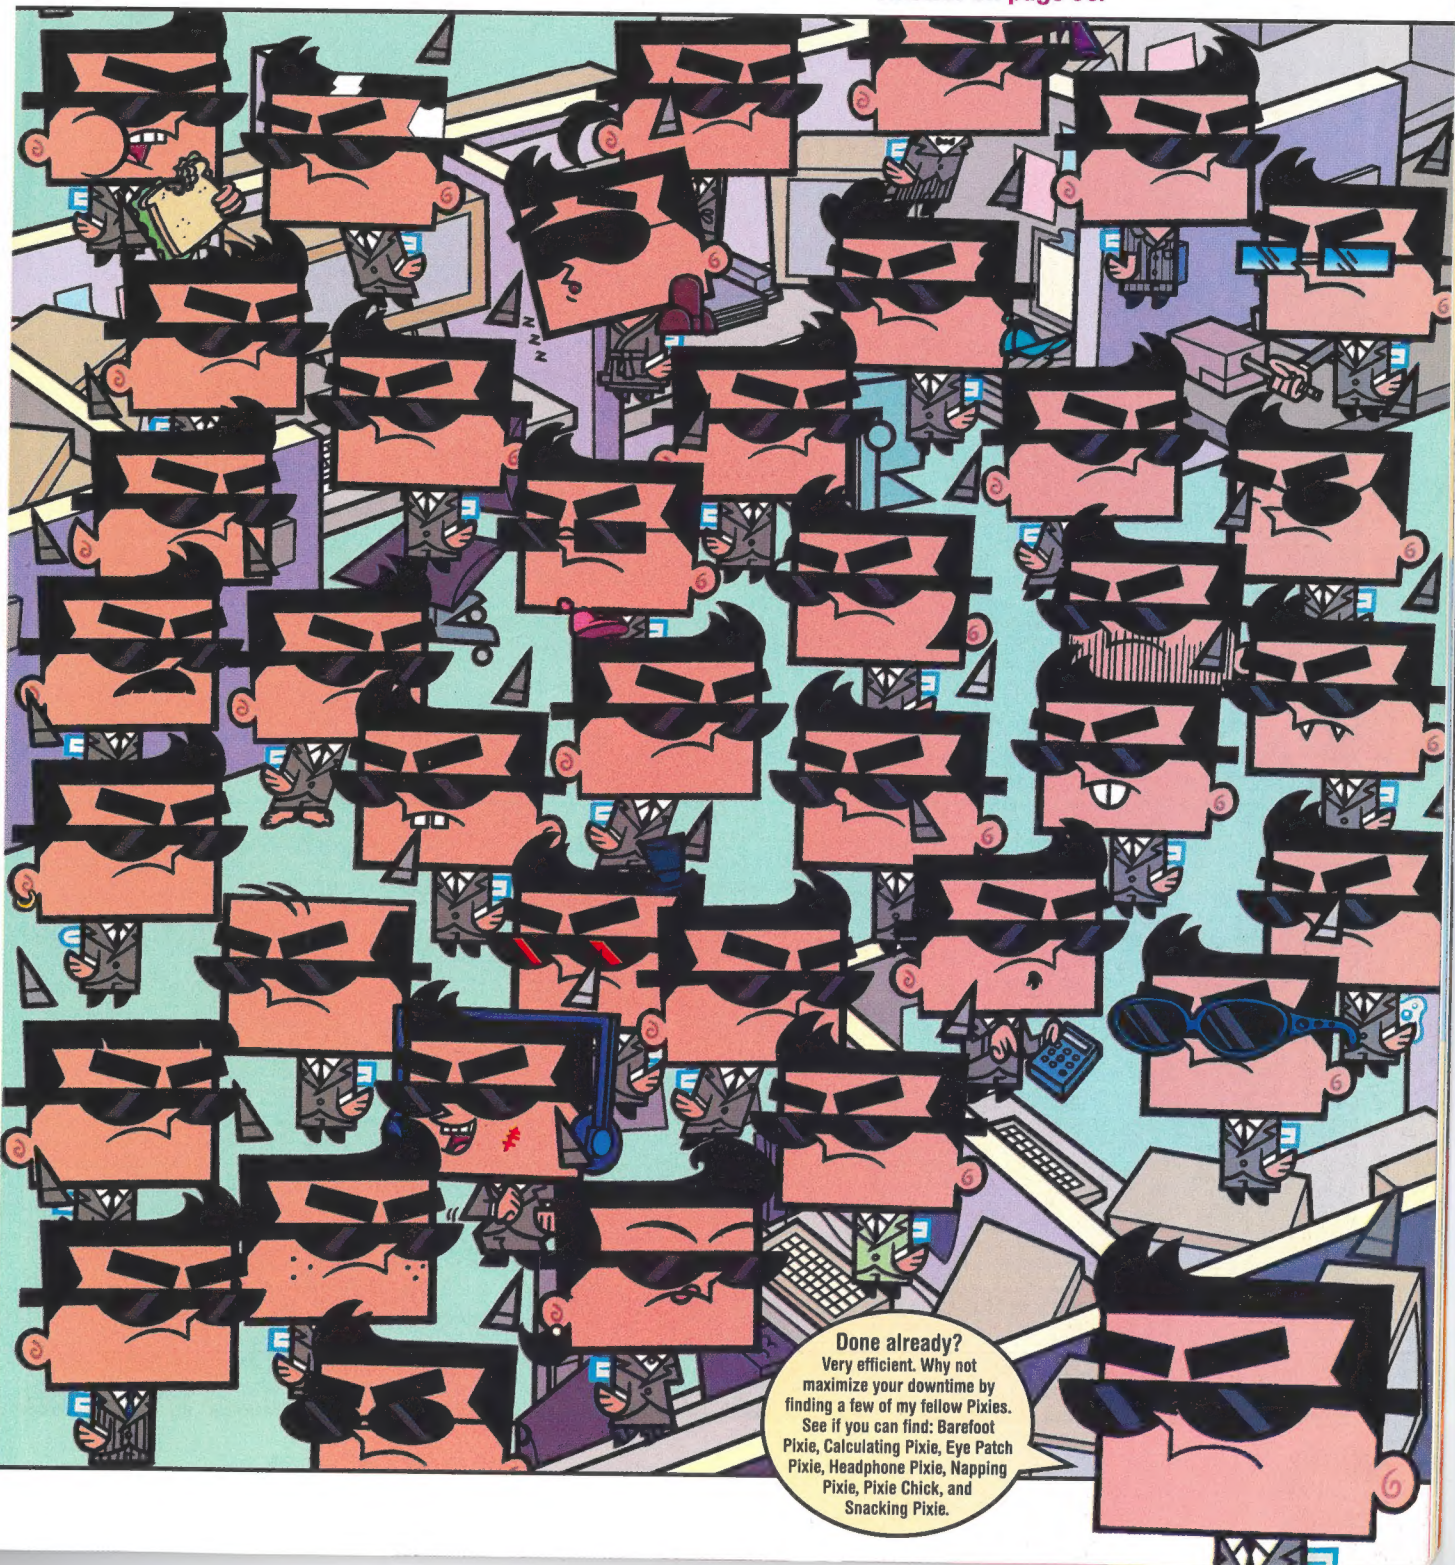

Pick the Pixie

Pixies are used to paying attention to detail. But humans, who are incredibly inferior in this regard, often have trouble even telling me apart from my coworkers. Ha.

Can you locate me in the picture? Go ahead and try—just don't have any fun while doing it.

Answer on page 56.

Done already? Very efficient. Why not maximize your downtime by finding a few of my fellow Pixies. See if you can find: Barefoot Pixie, Calculating Pixie, Eye Patch Pixie, Headphone Pixie, Napping Pixie, Pixie Chick, and Snacking Pixie.

▼ Fold this page along the dotted line and carefully tear it out. ▼

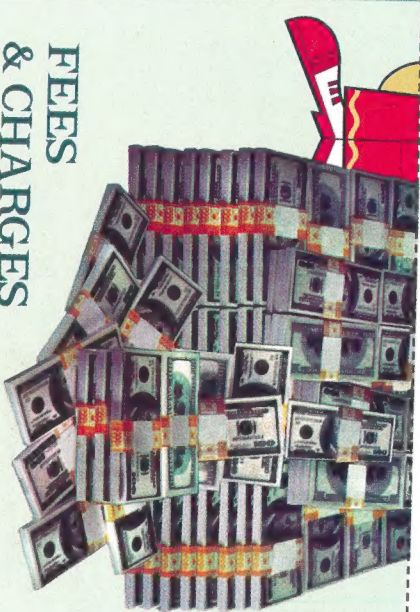

STOP RIGHT HERE!

Before reading any further, look at this checklist. How many of these things are true about your household?

- ☐ Kids watch TV and listen to music.
- ☐ Kids play with their friends.
- ☐ Kids are from planet Earth.
- ☐ Kids are annoying.
- ☐ Kids aren't annoying.

If you checked any of these, you need our help! It's time to dump the summer blues and jump into the most fun-tastic, fun-illicious, fun-ological summer camp in the world!

FEES & CHARGES

An A-list facility like ours doesn't come cheap. Every dollar you spend is not only a dollar that will go into our pocket (to be spent later on our trip to Hawaii), but it's a dollar that will enrich your child's life in some way that we refuse to define for fear of lawsuits. Some important rates to be aware of are:

|------------------------------|---------------------|
| Meal fee..... | $172.04 (per bite) |
| Bed fee..... | $548.09 (per nap) |
| Learning fee..... | $5000.17 |
| A-torium fee..... | $345.00 |
| Fun fee..... | $7234.99 |
| Use of oxygen and space..... | $700.00 (per day) |

- For a full list of rates, please contact our main office and ask for Shady Sam, World's Hairiest Clown.
- All monies must be paid in full, prior to admission.
- All refunds are subject to a surcharge equal to or greater than the original payment amount.
- We gladly accept cash!

Camp Learn-a-torium is located just north of Dimmsdale, USA, four miles outside city limits and beyond legal jurisdiction of the county sheriff. We're a registered violator of the Environmental Protection Act and are proud sponsors of the annual Algebra Fun Bowl.

PIXIES,
INC.

Pixie Job Application: Form 23-A

Thank you for your interest in Pixies, Inc. Due to the competitive nature of our industry, we ask that you fill out this form so we can determine your eligibility. Check your score to find out where you stand. Remember, we're judging you.

SECTION 1: LIFESTYLE

Pixies must be sensible in both mind and body. "Fun" is a bad investment. Tell us how you'd behave in the situations below.

1 This summer, you would rather wear:

- ☐ a. a suit, a tie, and sensible shoes.
- ☐ b. something bright with a comfy pair of wings.
- ☐ c. Nothing! Summertime is streaking time!

2 You would rather listen to:

- ☐ a. business news and books on tape.
- ☐ b. monkey calls and loud belches.
- ☐ c. songs you've illegally downloaded from the Internet.

3 You've just been given free tickets to an amusement park. You:

- ☐ a. give them back. There's nothing amusing about parks.
- ☐ b. An amusement park? How 'bout some tickets to Mars!
- ☐ c. ride every roller coaster till you barf, then get right back in line.

4 It's summertime, and school's out for two months. You:

- ☐ a. volunteer to attend summer school. Bring on the algebra!
- ☐ b. change all the calendars so it's July all year long.
- ☐ c. sleep, run, swim...and go to the bathroom when you absolutely have to.

SECTION 2: GRAY MATTERS

A good Pixie is worth his or her weight in brains (about two pounds, if you must know). Solve the problems below, but don't use your imagination. We hate creativity.

5 Joe has two apples and eight oranges, all to himself. Amy has three times more fruit to share. How much fruit does Amy have?

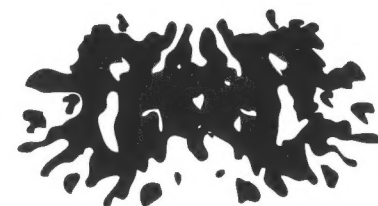

- ☐ a. See an accountant, pay the fee, get the answer.
- ☐ b. Who cares? Amy is fabulous!
- ☐ c. Oh, man, more homework!?

6 Miguel fell off his pony and got three stitches on his knee. The last time he fell, he got four stitches on his arm. What's the total number of Miguel's stitches?

- ☐ a. Miguel should apply for medical insurance.
- ☐ b. Let's have the pony ride Miguel and see how he likes it.
- ☐ c. Miguel sure is a clumsy kid!

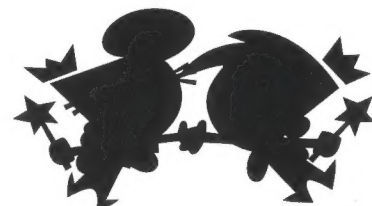

7 Jane brought 200 donuts to work to share with her friends. Half were eaten. How many are left?

- ☐ a. Donuts are not allowed in the workplace.
- ☐ b. Mmmm! These donuts taste like rain clouds.
- ☐ c. Count 'em yourself—I didn't get any.

8 This inkblot shows:

- ☐ a. Bah! Ink is too expensive to waste.
- ☐ b. a family of unicorns, dancing under a rainbow. With a frog. On a Tuesday.
- ☐ c. a big, black, gooey mess. But I didn't do it!

9 This inkblot looks like:

- ☐ a. two lazy, good-for-nothing half-wits.
- ☐ b. my role models.
- ☐ c. Is this quiz over yet?

SECTION 3: WHAT'S THE SCORE?

If, at any time, you chose b or c as an answer, we regret to inform you that you're not Pixie material. So please go away. To the few of you who chose a all the way, congratulations. You're stuffy and conservative, a regular party pooper—you're a Pixie in the making!

Pixies, Inc. is an unequal opportunity employer, serving the needs of ourselves and our own community. Fairies need not apply. (We'll weed you out, regardless, should you try.) Applicants may be charged a ghastly processing fee. Check your mail for the bill.

LAUGH TRACK

by Steve Ryan

Flappy Bob wants to transform himself from a boring businessman into his true clown self. To do that, he must collect the five clown items while avoiding those pesky Pixies, H.P. and Sanderson.

Can you find the one path that will bring Flappy back to his greasepaint glory?

Rules: You can't retrace your footsteps, but you can continue on a path that travels over or under another path. The five items can be collected in any order, but you can't enter the areas with the Pixies. If you need a hint, turn the page upside down. Solution on page 56.

Hint: Pick up the balloon animal first.

NICK MAG PRESENTS

JAMMIN' ANIMATION

Long before The Fairly OddParents burst into song, Saturday morning TV was filled with wacky adventure, kooky comedy, and good, old-fashioned rock and roll. (Well, maybe not so good.) We tracked down and rated, on a scale of 1-10, some of TV's most outrageous cartoon bands.

HOLO-ER THAN THOU

JEM, 1985-88

Jem was about a battle of the bands: Jem and the Holograms versus the Misfits. Can you guess which band was the good one and which band was evil? Here are some hints: Jem sang songs such as "We Can Make a Difference" and "Love Unites Us," while the Misfits sang "Outta My Way," "Gimme! Gimme! Gimme!" and "Winning Is Everything." Jem was constantly playing charity benefits and befriending her fans. The Misfits, on the other hand, only wanted to steal Jem's fame and fortune.

Jem was the secret identity of Jericca Benton, a normal girl who used a pair of hologram-casting earrings to give herself

Jem's glitzy clothes and fluffy hair as well as to help her thwart the Misfits' dastardly plans. But there wasn't much of a point to her double identity—Jerrica was just as pretty, as successful, and as sickly sweet as Jem herself.

GROOVE LEVEL 10 Made in the era of early MTV, Jem presented at least two animated music videos in every episode, complete with the title of the song and the group's name in the lower-left corner of the screen.

ACTION FACTOR 6 Jem didn't do much crime fighting. Mostly, she worked on keeping the Misfits from stealing the show.

TAILS OF ADVENTURE

JOSIE AND THE PUSSYCATS, 1970-74

If you're in a band and your drummer's ears wiggle, pay close attention...extended chase scenes may follow. On Josie and the Pussycats, the wiggling ears belonged to Melody Valentine; they were always the first sign that trouble was afoot. Sinister scientists and power-mad spies interrupted every gig on this band's tour. The girls never missed a beat, however, even when the series turned into Josie and the Pussycats in Outer Space and they took a permanent rocket trip out of the galaxy. When they decided to be stars, they really meant it.

GROOVE LEVEL 8 Viewers were able to hear at least one full song per episode, usually while the group was on the run.

ACTION FACTOR 9 Being chased by superspies and mad scientists, capturing the bad guys, and even rocketing into space made the Pussycats' show furry exciting.

HIPSTER HEROES

THE IMPOSSIBLES, 1966-68

They may have looked like a run-of-the-mill ultramod pop band, but the Impossibles had an amazing secret: They were superheroes, too. When their boss, the Big D, contacted them through the gizmos in their guitars, this sharp-dressed trio put on tights and took on bad guys. Fluid Man could turn into liquid, Coil Man's limbs became super-elastic springs, and the shaggy-haired Multi-Man could create copies of himself. Despite their powers, there was one thing the Impossibles were never able to do: find a drummer.

GROOVE LEVEL 1 This power trio's songs were always interrupted by their superhero duties.

ACTION FACTOR 10 It was impossible for these heroes to stand still.

FAR-OUT FAMILY

THE BRADY KIDS, 1972-74

When Greg, Marcia, and the rest of the Brady kids sang "Time to Change" on The Brady Bunch, they weren't kidding. In 1972, the siblings changed into animated forms for their own Saturday morning cartoon, The Brady Kids. Along with some animated pets—a whistling dog, two space pandas, and a magical mynah bird—the kids got into one bizarre adventure after another. But whether they were traveling to ancient Greece with Wonder Woman or helping out spacemen from Venus, these wholesome hipsters always managed to break out their instruments and burst into song. Alice would have been proud.

GROOVE LEVEL 5 The songs were real hits, but the Bradys jamming on actual instruments? Come on.

ACTION FACTOR 5 There was plenty of strange stuff going on, but no chase scenes and no superpowers made for a pretty slow pace.

MUSIC WITH BITE

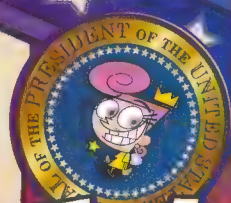

JABBERJAW, 1976-78

According to his theme song, Jabberjaw was "the most futuristic shark you ever saw." And as sharks go, he was pretty unusual. Living in the year 2021, Jabberjaw walked, played drums (for a human band called the Neptunes), and talked like Curly from the Three Stooges. Jabberjaw and the Neptunes toured the ocean cities of the future, running into countless monsters and criminals. In this fishy cartoon, the shark got top billing but always griped that he got "no respect." Maybe he should've taken his drum kit over to the Impossibles.

GROOVE LEVEL 2 It's a little hard to believe a fish could really keep a firm grip on drumsticks.

ACTION FACTOR 8 Man, that shark could run!

President Timmy's ANNOYING SONGS

Thank you, America,
for electing me as your first kid
President. It's just what I wished for!
Now that I'm in charge, I think the country needs a few new anthems.
Wanna sing along?

MY IRRATIONAL ANTHEM

(Sing to the tune of
"The Star-Spangled Banner.")

Oh, say, what's your beef?
I'm Commander-in-Chief.
And since I got here,
All I've got from you is grief.

I have heard all your claims.
You want video games,
Twelve new water parks,
And a monkey you'll call "James."

You want toys and skateboards,
Laser energy swords.
There's only so much
That my budget affords.

Oh, all of your wishes are more than I can take.
All this stuff you want ain't free—
Can you give me a break?

TIM-ERICA, THE MESSY

(Sing to the tune of
"America, the Beautiful.")

With no adults
In charge of us,
All we need do is play.

We won't shower
Or wash our hair.
Same underwear each day!

Tim-erica, Tim-erica—
This country's really great.
It's games and fun
For everyone.
We'll even stay up late!

The White House has Become a mess
With crumbs across the floors.

The bedrooms are
All full of junk.
Dartboards hang from the doors.

Tim-erica, Tim-erica—
Who cares if we're slop-py?
We'll pile up toys,
Make lots of noise,
And not flush when we pee.

HAIL, PRESIDENT TIMMY

(Sing to the tune of
"My Country, 'Tis of Thee.")

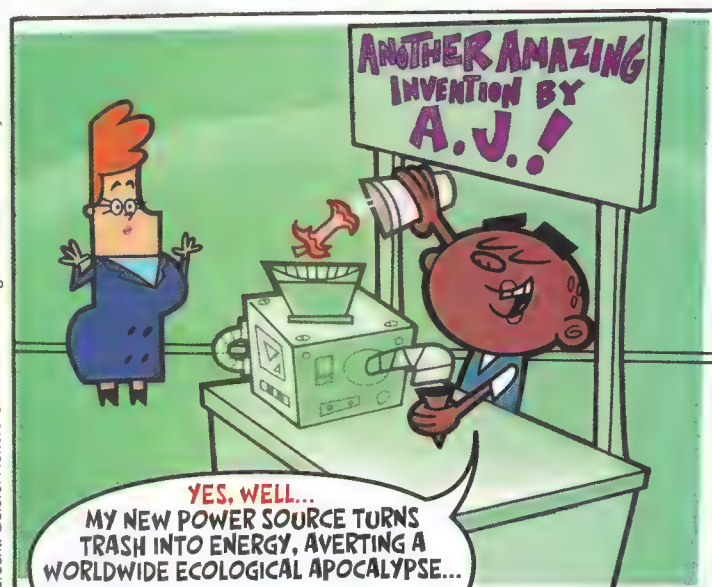

Hail, President Timmy,
White House atop a tree,
Isn't he cool?

He's glad for ev'ry vote.
Check out his new sports coat.
Yeah, Chompy is his fav'rit goat—
Wa-aatch out for drool.

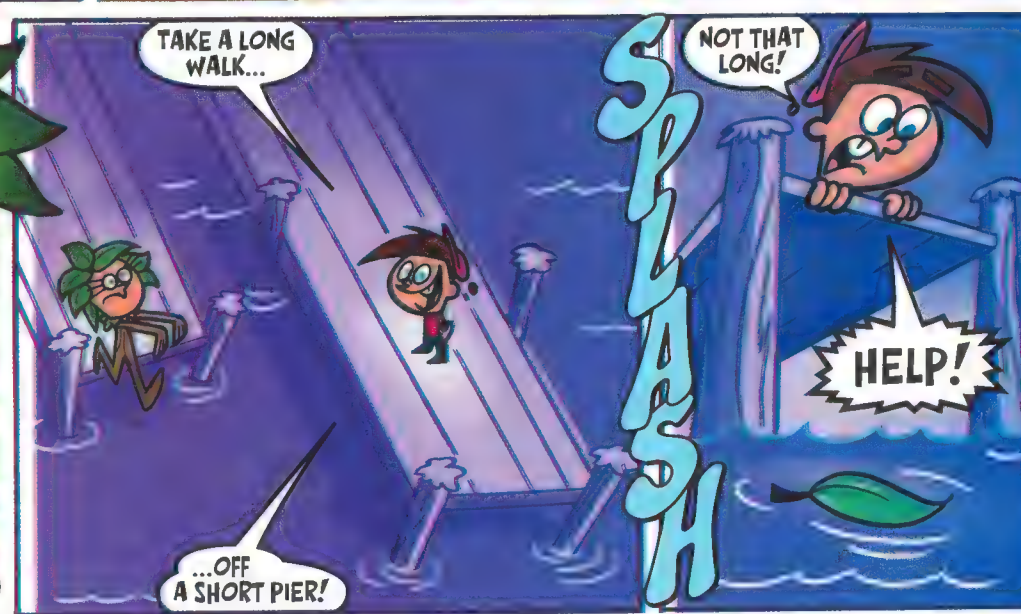

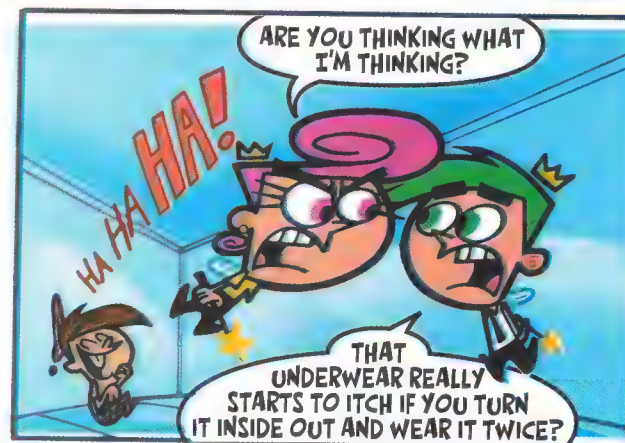

Timmy's new Cabinet
Sometimes are kinda wet.
(They're his goldfish.)

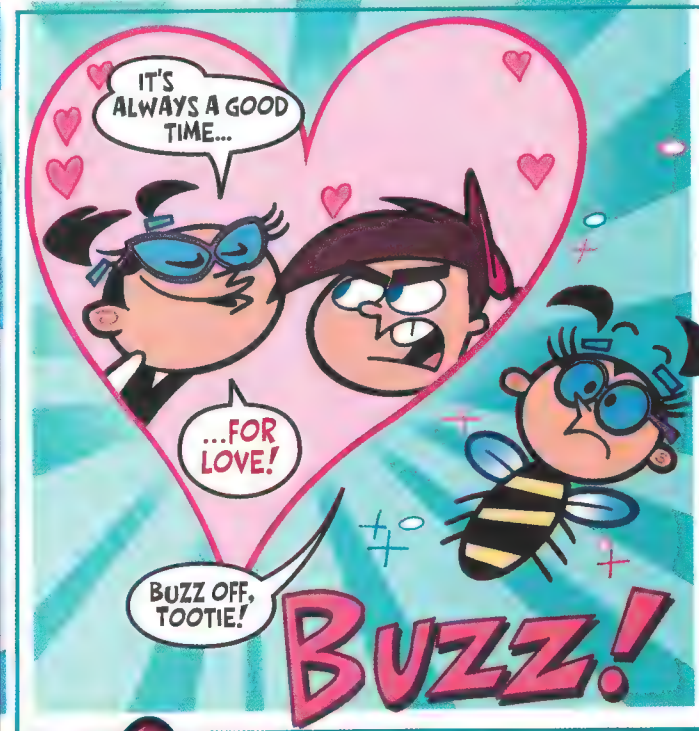

Keep it a secret, yo.
One really is Cos-mo,
And Wanda is the other, so
He can always wish.

JORGEN VON STRANGLE'S THREE-MINUTE WORKOUT

Do you want to be a perfect fairy specimen like Jorgen? Too bad—you are a limp little mortal. Since your puniness upsets me, I will teach you some fairy exercises so you can become less like you and more like me (minus the awesome muscles and beautiful speaking voice). Prepare for fairy fitness!

by Marc Tyler Nobleman

Since you are not a fairy, you will not have the use of a real wand.

WAND WAVES

1. Like a dog, find a stick. Hold it at your side with the teensy hand you use to write and change the channel, if you know how to do things of this nature.
2. Snap the wand up in front of you and wave it in a circle.
3. Open your little mouth as if you were about to say a magical command. It is sad! You have no magic!

Repeat 10 times.

Are you going to cry like a baby because you don't have wings? No! Either pretend that you are flying or go into one of those silly aircrafts that you humans use.

FLIGHT FLEXES

1. Put your elbows out to the side like majestic fairy wings.
2. More majestic!
3. Flap your arms up and down and spring up as if you were gracefully rising into the air.

Repeat 20 times.

All fairies must learn to respect the awesome power of the butterfly net. The net prevents us from performing magic and chafes our delicate skin. Net survival skills may even save you someday, human.

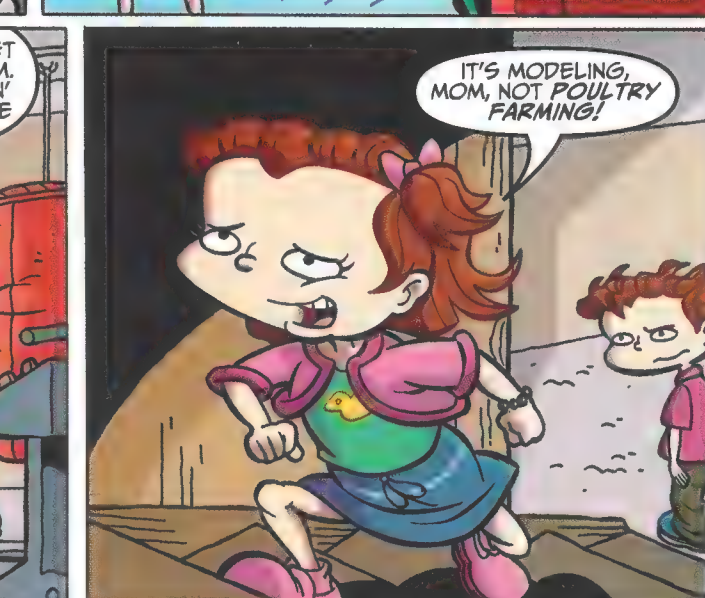

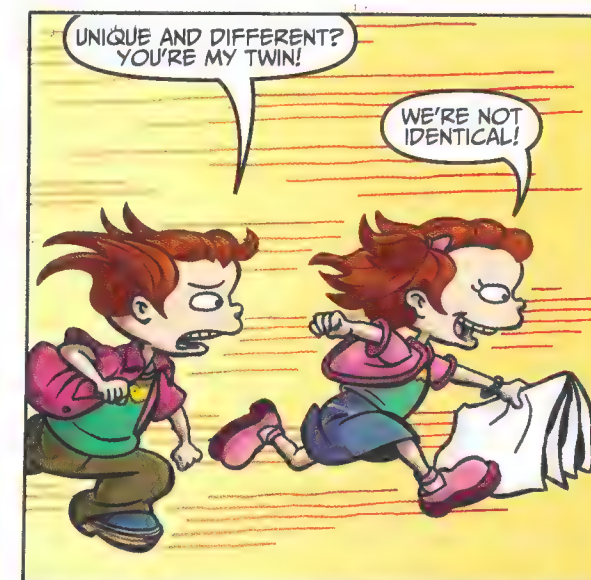

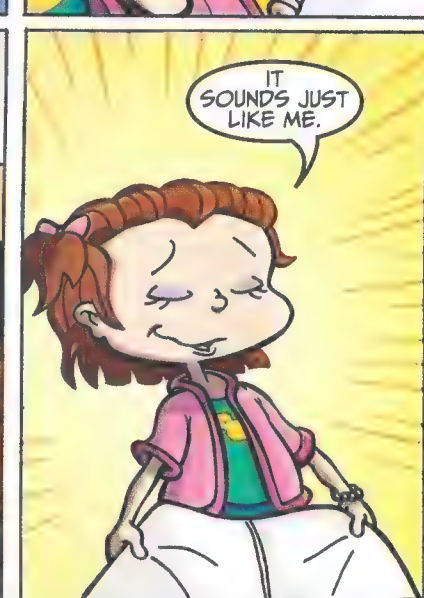

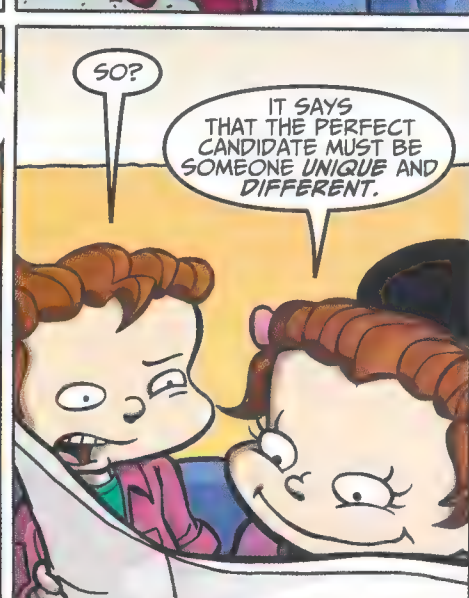

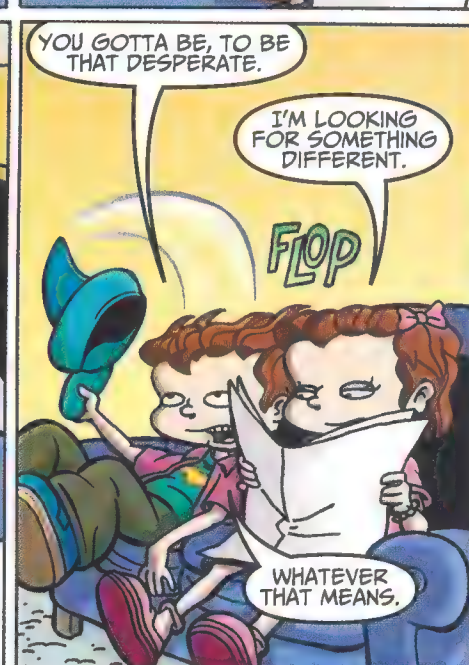

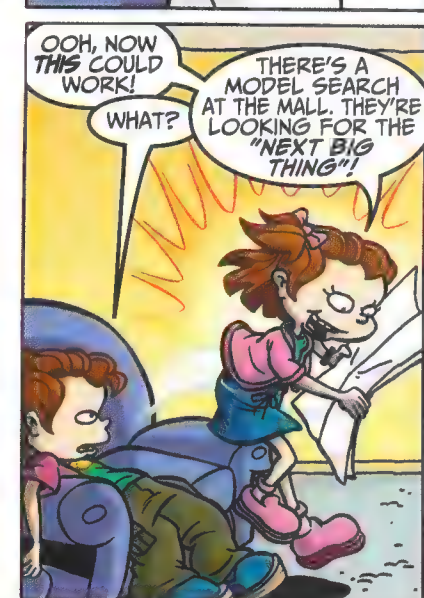

COWER POWER

1. When you first spot the net, raise your arms in terror. Yes, even fairies with magnificent physiques know terror!
2. Make sure to bend your knees.
3. You are very scared.
4. Feel the cringe!

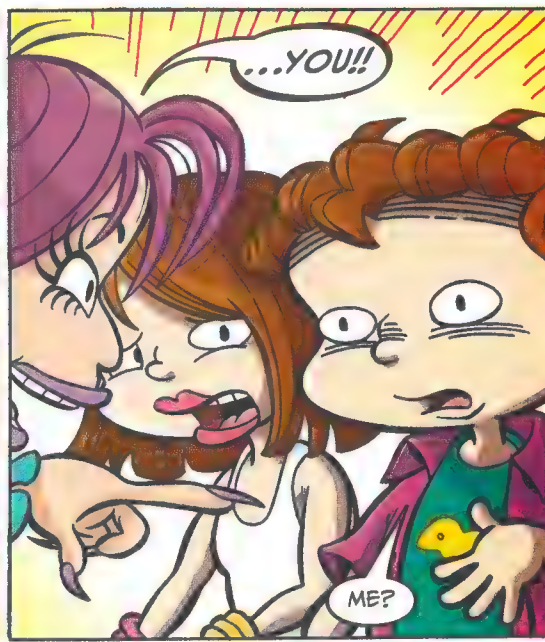

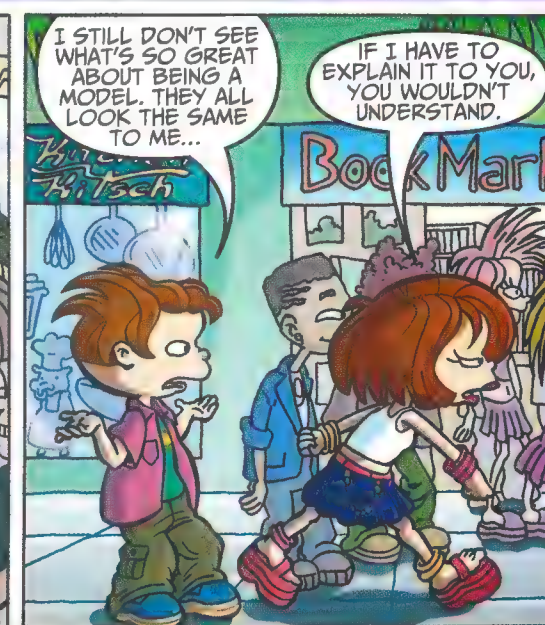

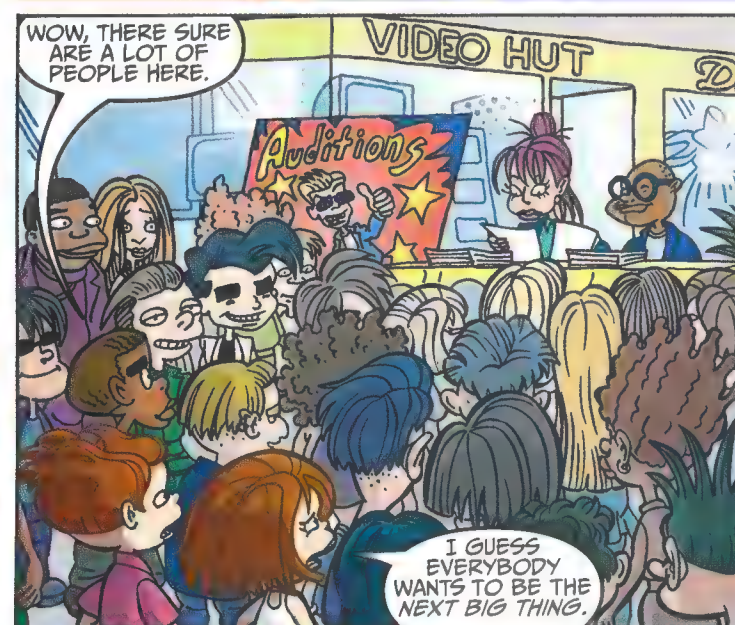

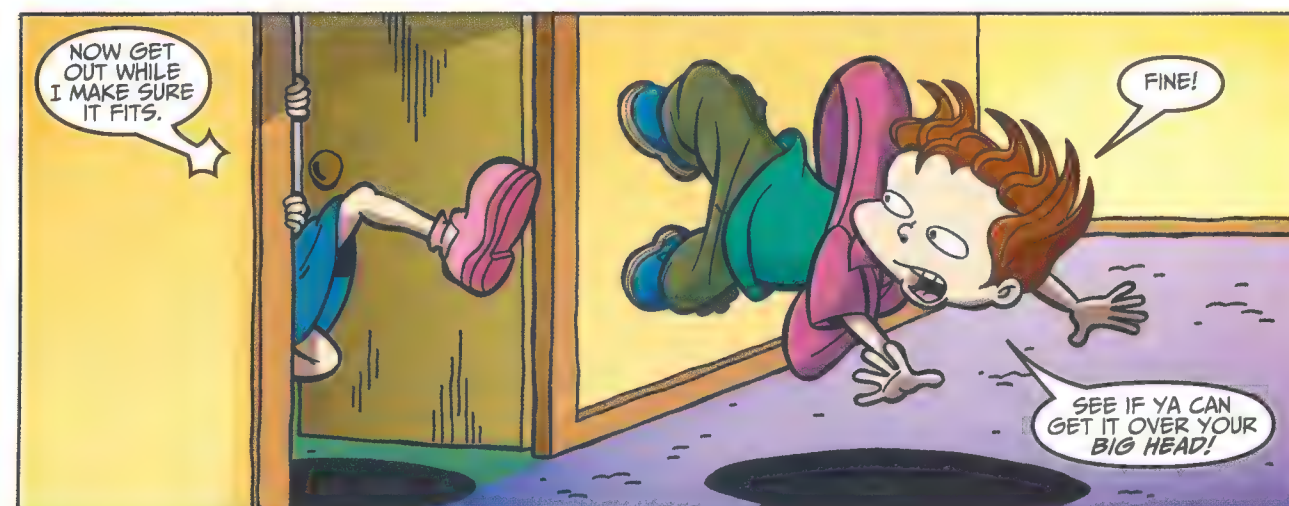

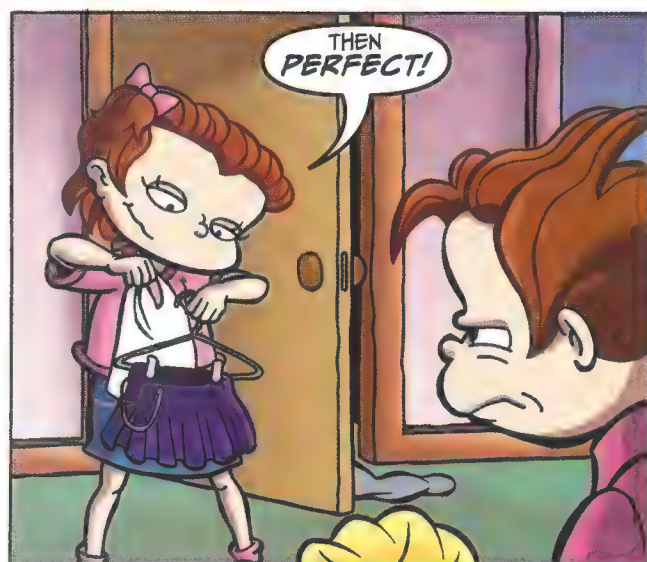

Repeat until butterfly net is removed.

all grown up!

Dear Diary...

Today I went shopping for a new pair of shoes for school. And guess who followed me into the store? Who else? That no-good show-off, Susie Carmichael!

She was trying on the VERY shoes that I wanted. Figures. Everything she knows about style, she learned from ME.

People like Susie always appreciate a compliment.

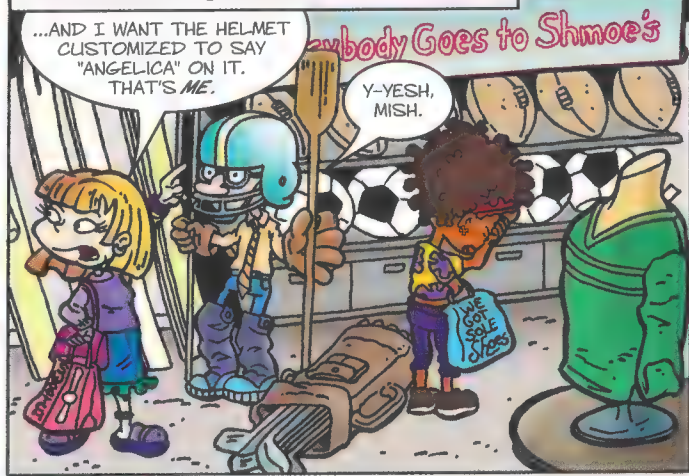

I told her how my mom lent me her card to buy these shoes.

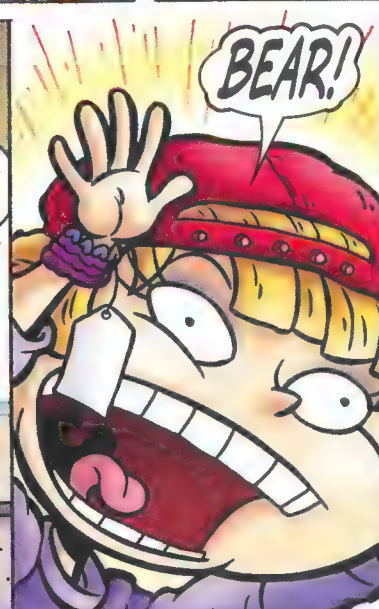

So I took her to Tick Tock Inc. I needed a new watch, anyway. Ya know...for school.

Then we went to Shmoe's Sporting Goods. I...uh...had to buy a gift for Cousin Tommy.

Susie dragged me all over the place. She wouldn't stop!

Little Susie had turned into a shopping MONSTER!

She made such a fuss that they threw her out of the mall. Naturally, I left with her.

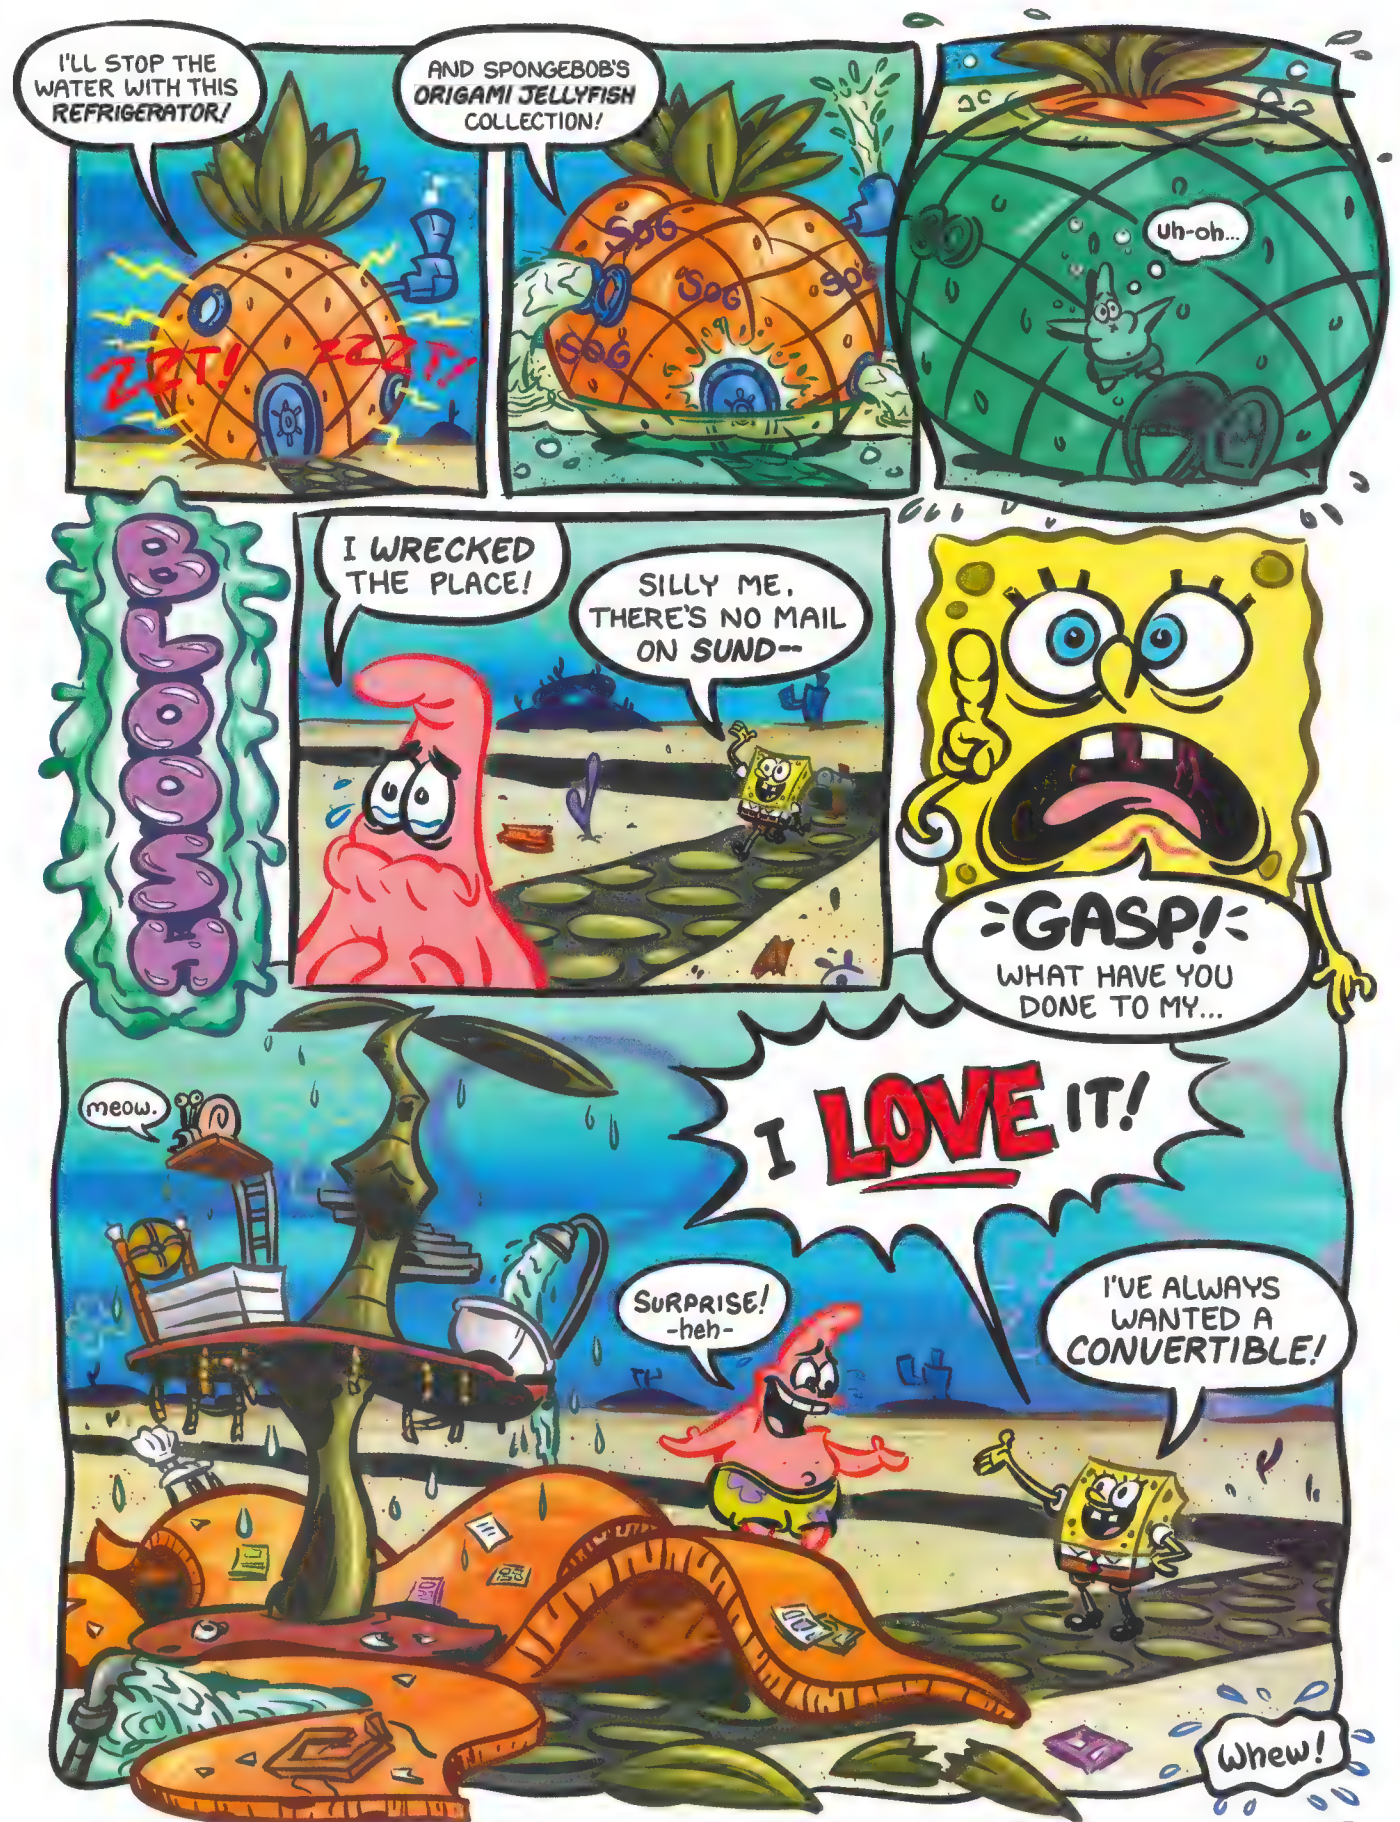

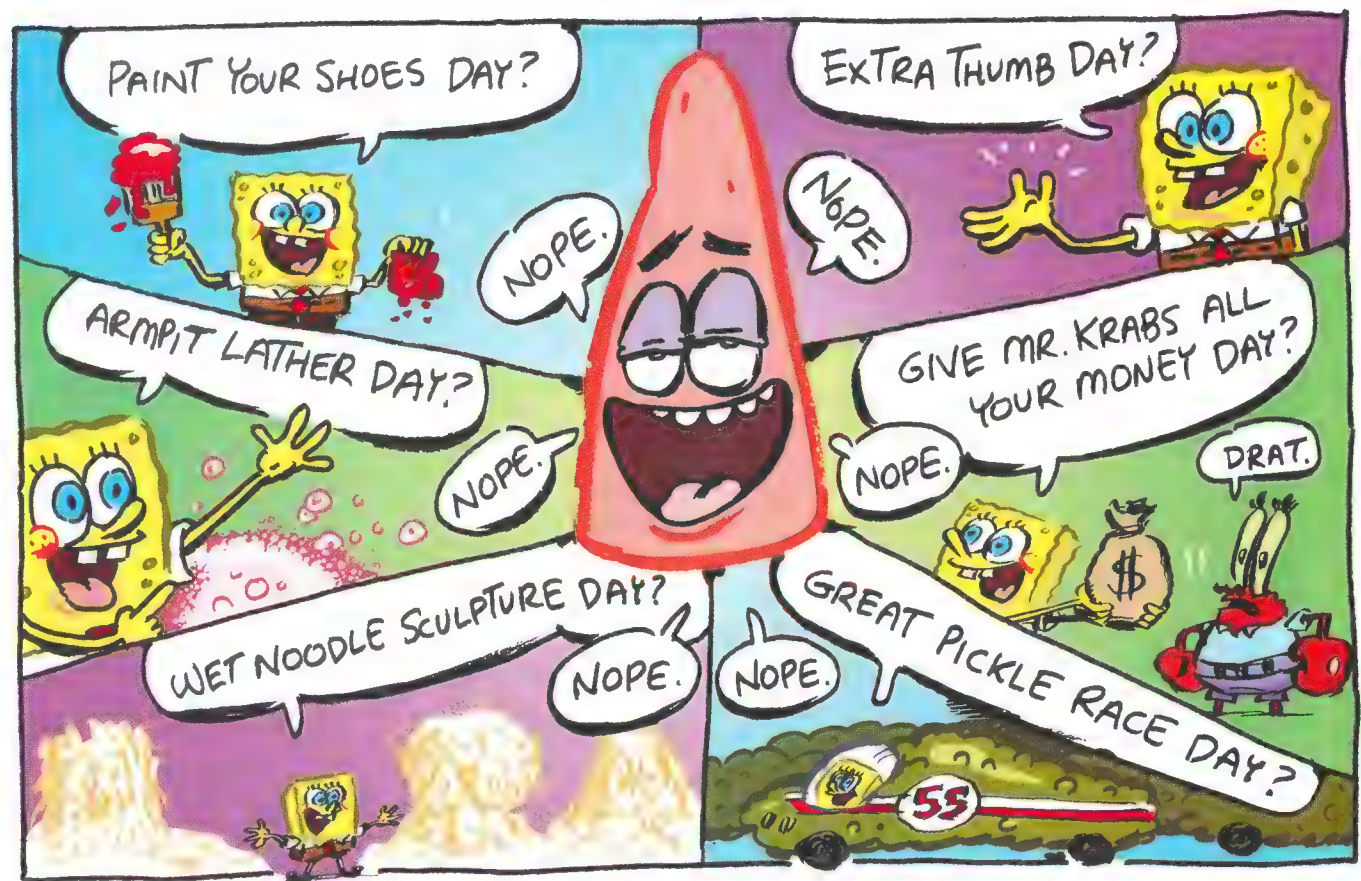

I totally put Susie in her place—even SHE admitted it!

Save This Song

by Marc Tyler Nobleman

Cosmo has written his own rhyming song. Since it's Cosmo, it should be no surprise that something is off—there are no rhymes! That's because one word in every stanza has been replaced by a synonym that ruins the stanza's rhyme. Figure out which word is wrong as well as the synonym that should take its place in order to make Cosmo's lyrics sing. (We did the first one for you.) Answers on page 56.

HERE'S A LITTLE SOMETHING I CALL "COSMO'S SONG." CATCHY TITLE,
DON'TCHA THINK?

Magic, it may look so easy
Turning big to small, bald to ~~shaggy~~ hairy
But it takes eons of training, and then a few more
To turn yourself into a fairly good fairy.

There are so many rules to remember,
Precisely nine hundred seventy-two.
Me, I've learned almost eight of them—
As for the rest, I haven't a hint.

My Wanda, her magic isn't tragic—
She's a fairy with nary the mistake.
If you asked for a rat, you'd get one.
When I try, there's often much terror.

Yet some magic I can manage
With a leisurely wave of my wand.
Like, my hair is green and Wanda's is pink,
But both of us used to be yellowish.

Thanks to Timmy, I get lots of practice.
That boy has a wish for every occasion.
He asked me to change Snickers to Milky Way,
But instead, I caused an alien raid.

Wanda and Timmy, they don't mind my mix-ups.
It's not like anyone really gets injured.
I mean, what's the worst that could happen
If I reverse your pants and your shirt?

Jorgen Von Strangle has warned me to watch it.
He said I can't mess up so many items.
But there's a career I can always fall back on.
That's right, I'll be a rock star—with wings!

GOOD Clown

BAD Clown

In the Fairly OddParents musical, Flappy Bob transforms from a bad buffoon into a giggling good guy. Clowns should make us laugh and bring joy, but you have to watch out for the few rotten red noses in the bunch. Here's your handy guide to separating the good clowns from the bad.

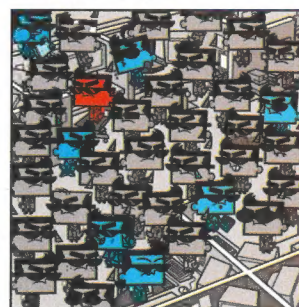

A Good Clown:

A Bad Clown:

|---|--|
| Fits 30 of his pals in a tiny car | Charges his 30 pals for the ride |
| Wears big, bright, floppy shoes | Wears big, bright, floppy shoes with spikes |
| Has a red, round nose | Bops you in the nose so it's red and round |
| Makes fun balloon animals | Makes fun of balloon animals |
| Tosses whipped cream pies | Tosses up lunch |
| Does funny pratfalls | Prefers to trip others, not himself |
| Jokes | Smokes |
| Performs at birthday parties | Steals your birthday money |
| Has a name like Chuckles, Happy, or Beppo | Has a name like Shudders, Barfo, or Stinky |
| Is a fun time | Is called a mime |
